Oakland University was established in 1957 when the late Alfred G. and Matilda R. Wilson donated $2 million and their Meadow Brook estate and surrounding farms to begin a new college in Oakland County, Michigan. From its beginnings, the university has provided an undergraduate education that prepares students with a portfolio of skills and values that lead to success in work and life.

Oakland University is one of the country's 90 doctoral/research universities as listed by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. It offers 135 undergraduate majors and 135 graduate degree and certificate programs, including master's and doctoral degrees.

Oakland has welcomed record enrollment increases for 16 consecutive years and today is home to more than 20,500 students. The university offers a unique, hands-on education for undergraduate and graduate students through the College of Arts and Sciences, the Schools of Business Administration, Engineering and Computer Science, Health Sciences, Education and Human Services, Nursing, The Honors College and the Oakland University William Beaumont School of Medicine. According to the Anderson Economic Group, its regional economic footprint in 2013 was estimated at more than $700 million annually.

Of the university's 583 full-time faculty members, approximately 90 percent hold doctoral degrees in specialized fields of study from many of the nation's finest research institutions. These renowned faculty members teach in Oakland University's classrooms. In fact, graduate assistants teach less than one percent of all OU courses. Small classes mean students receive hands-on, high-quality attention from inspirational and innovative faculty members.

Oakland University continues to move toward its goal of creating an even more distinctive undergraduate education by 2020. Oakland is expanding on its core strengths to become known for its cross-disciplinary approach to education, unique opportunities for undergraduate research, personalized attention, and its tradition of producing liberally educated leaders.
